

Department News & Updates

8/24/2018

NEWS & EVENTS

- Alison Van Eenennaam was quoted in an article entitled, “Editing the Future of Aquaculture” in Hatchery International Magazine.

OUTREACH & TRAVEL

- Joy Mench and Cassandra Tucker co-lead a training for corporate decision makers about dairy and laying hen welfare organized by the Professional Animal Auditor Certification Organization in Turlock, CA.
- Matthias Hess attended the 17th International Symposium on Microbial Ecology where he presented his work on anaerobic fungi and their role in biomass degradation in the cow rumen.
- Alison Van Eenennaam presented “Innovation in Agricultural Science” at the Yuma County Farm Bureau Meeting and spoke to 120 5th & 6th graders at the Gowan Science Academy in Yuma, AZ.

RESEARCH

- Jim Murray and Elizabeth Maga published a chapter titled “Regulatory Dysfunction inhibits the Development and Application of Transgenic Livestock for Use in Agriculture” in Animal Biotechnology 2.
- Alison Van Eenennaam and Amy Young published a chapter titled “Public Perception of Animal Biotechnology” Animal Biotechnology 2.
- Mike Mienaltowski spoke at the Equine Genetics Forum, sponsored by the UC Davis Veterinary Genetics Laboratory and the Center for Equine Health about “Genomics in Regenerative Medicine”.
- Matthias Hess co-authored a review on challenges in global ruminant agricultural and the importance of an enhanced understanding of the rumen microbiome in Frontiers in Microbiology.

- Dr. Van Eenennaam at the Gowan Science Academy -

- Dr. Hess at the booth of Frontiers in Microbiology for which he serves as Specialty Editor-in-Chief -