Welcome to the UC Davis Department of Animal Science Horse Barn

This year our sale offers a variety of different breeds of horses including a weanling, several yearlings, two-year olds, and a saddle horse. All of our horses are up-to-date on vaccinations, deworming, and hoof care. Pre-purchase exams are available to review upon request, and additional exams are welcomed at buyers expense. Additional questions may be directed to the Facility Manager, Kelli Davis.

This year's sale will be held virtually through ShoWorks auction services. We are unable to allow in-person visitors or bidders during the auction. Information on how to register to bid, ShoWorks auction information, more pictures of the sale animals, pre-purchase exams, and more are available on our website.

Thank you for your participation in our auction; all proceeds directly benefit the Horse Barn Teaching Program. We appreciate your support!

History of the Horse Barn

The Department of Animal Science Horse Barn has been a mainstay of the University of California, Davis since its foundation in the early 1910's. The building itself is now over 100 years old and serves as a fond reminder of the facility's beginnings. It is the oldest structure on core campus that is still used for its original purpose. The Horse Barn began as a carriage house for draft horses and mules used in agricultural work for the university. It later became a remount station for the US Army, standing several stallions including the Thoroughbred stallion Gunrock, son of Rock Sand and relative to the famed Man O'War. He started as the mascot for the men's basketball team in 1924 and later served as the official mascot for the University.

The Horse Barn also operated as a successful Thoroughbred breeding facility from the 1930's through the 1960's. In the 1940's, the barn brought back the draft horses and draft mules in order to teach agriculture and plowing with true horse power. In 1963, the Horse Barn stood its first Quarter Horse stallion. The barn is proud to be celebrating over 50 years of breeding Quarter Horses. It has recently become a promising performance horse breeding operation; producing quality Quarter Horses, mules, Paints, Aztecas, and Warmblood crosses. By diversifying the types of horses bred, raised, and trained at the facility, the Horse Barn encourages students to become familiar with a wider array of breeds.

Our Internship Program

Under the direction of Kelli Davis, Facility Manager, and Dr. Amy McLean, Faculty Advisor

Student Assistant Barn Manager

This student assists the Horse Barn Manager with daily management of an equine facility. This year-long position aims to give students valuable experience in managing a horse facility of 30-50 horses. It includes managing farrier and vet schedules, maintaining herd health and facility records, overseeing herd care, event preparation, client services, and more.

Mare and Foal Management Internship

The foal management internship is designed for students interested in owning or managing broodmares, as well as training and caring for foals. Students learn to recognize signs of impending parturition, assist in the foaling process, and tend to the mares and foals following parturition. Students assist with registering, marketing, and selling yearlings and weanlings through the annual student-organized auction.

Stallion Management Internship

The stud management internship is geared toward students who wish to become professionally involved in owning or managing a stud farm or broodmare operation. The students gain hands-on experience in mare teasing, stallion and mare hygiene, semen collection and evaluation, and artificial insemination. Their experience also includes palpation, ultrasonography and pregnancy evaluations.

Performance Record

With a successful career in France, BAS BLANC qualified to compete at Fontainebleau as a 4, 5, and 6-year old and received an ISO of 136. He was then sold to Germany as a 9-year-old, where he competed successfully with Helena Weinsburg in International 1.50m classes in CSIA Ascona, CSIA and CSIO, Gijon, CSIA Bremen, and CSIA Dusseldorf. BAS BLANC was sold to the U.S. in February 1999 and competed in CSIA Pinerolo in September of that year. Upon his return to the U.S., he competed lightly. A jumping injury ended his performance career in 2003.

UC Davis Horse Barn Breeding Services

Additional financial support of our program is provided by standing several stallions as well as offering stallion and mare services to clients. As breeders for over 75 years, we have a strong foundation within the industry. The Horse Barn specializes in stallion breeding services from phantom training to frozen semen.

Our herd stallions are utilized for teaching, contribute to our breeding program, and stand at stud to the public. The Horse Barn offers on-farm and shipped semen breeding options to fit the client's needs.

Our facility also offers foaling services. Foaling stalls are 12' x 24' and are continuously monitored by trained student staff. Veterinarians are on call for each foaling and our close proximity to the Veterinary Medicine Teaching Hospital allows for prompt treatment in the event of an emergency.

For current pricing and more information about how the Horse Barn can meet your equine reproductive needs, contact the Barn Manager, Kelli Davis at kaddavis@ucdavis.edu.

UC Davis Horse Barn Production Sale Absentee Bidder Request Form

Every attempt will be made to contact absentee bidders by phone at the time the desired horses are selling. We will not run the bids up to the price of your absentee bid unless we have live counter bids. We will attempt to have a knowledgeable independent person handling your phone call and will attempt to follow your instructions precisely. Please call us prior to sale day to ask any questions about the horses.

I am enclosing a check in the amount of $_____ for the purchase of horse(s) at UC Davis Horse Barn Production Sale June 19, 2021. I authorize UC Davis Horse Barn or their authorized agent, to make bids on my behalf up to the amount of this check. I will contact UC Davis Horse Barn via telephone with instructions on which horse(s) are to be purchased and how much to spend on each horse. I also understand that should my winning bid be less than my check, I will be refunded the difference less any costs associated with the purchase of the horse(s) such as board, farrier, veterinarian, etc. until the horse(s) leaves UC Davis Horse Barn. I understand that if I do not purchase any horses my check will be returned to me.

“THE JACK”

Sculpted by Trent L. Meyer and Eliana Meyer

This bronze sculpture is cast in the ancient lost wax process, measuring 7” x 5” x 12” high mounted on a California Bay Laurel Base with a 360° swivel.

Signed and numbered sculptures are available in this limited edition series.

Well known local sculptor Trent L. Meyer and daughter, Eliana, have collaborated on a 1/4-scale bust of champion donkey “Action Jackson” to help raise funds for the UC Davis Animal Science Department. In addition to his own awards, Action Jackson, who stood at stud at the UC Davis Animal Science Department Horse Barn, sired many mules that have gone on to excel in the show ring and on the racetrack.

The artist, Trent L. Meyer, is a native of Northern California and began sculpting at the age of 14, while a sophomore at Sutter Union High School. In addition to sculpting in bronze, at an early age taxidermy fascinated him such that he has now devoted his life to a full-time career designing specialty tools for the taxidermy trade. Trent’s experience as a taxidermist and as a photographer is carried over into the anatomical detail, facial expressions, and realism in his bronze sculptures. His pieces are sought after around the world and can be seen locally at the Nature Conservancy at Consumnes River Preserve, Cache Creek Natural Preserve, the Jane Goodall Institute, and the Sacramento Zoo.

Trent has spent the last 19 years as a bronze sculptor and has been fortunate to be able to sculpt what interests him. Although fond of Action Jackson himself, it was Trent’s daughter Eliana (5 1/2 years old) who suggested this jack would be a good subject, and that she could help with the project as well. Knowing that the University, the College of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences, and the Animal Science Department has experienced severe budget cuts, and that additional cuts could be in the future, Trent recognized that this project would be not only be a great fundraising opportunity for the University, but also a great learning experience in philanthropy for his daughter.

Being philanthropic is nothing new to Trent as he states, “My family taught by example and that there was no better feeling than seeing one’s good fortunes being put to use for a good cause.” Trent’s father graduated from UC Davis in 1950 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Animal Science. Trent says, “Although my father is no longer with us, it is a great feeling to be able to help an institution that he loved.” Trent’s wife, Dr. Deanne Meyer, is a Cooperative Extension Specialist with the Department of Animal Science.

A limited edition of signed and numbered bronze sculptures, titled “The Jack”, are being offered for sale through the UC Davis Animal Science Department. These magnificent sculptures have a set published sale price available through the Animal Science Department or the sculptor. The net proceeds will go to the UC Davis Department to support its programs. Mr. Meyer is financing this philanthropic undertaking with no outlay of funds from the University.
